INTRODUCTION

This booklet is designed to help you carry out your duties as an executor or administrator of an estate. The information in this booklet is based on New Hampshire law in effect at the time of publication and is issued as a public service for general information only. It is not a substitute for legal advice. Rather, it is intended to help you recognize when you need legal advice and to help you understand the advice you receive. There are many circumstances that may arise which are not covered here and, in most instances, it is wise to consult an attorney. If you feel you need the advice of an attorney and don't know whom to call, the Lawyer Referral Service of the New Hampshire Bar Association can help. Call (603) 229-0002 for more information.

In New Hampshire, the administration of a decedent’s estate comes under the jurisdiction of the Circuit Court Probate Division and a list of those courts is provided in the back of this booklet. Also included are links to the forms used by the Circuit Court and the state Department of Revenue Administration (DRA), a Timeline which gives some of the deadlines you should be aware of when administering an estate, and a basic Glossary of terms. (Italicized terms in the text are defined in the Glossary.) In addition, the Estate Administration Checklist will give you a guide to the information and documents you will need to carry out the administration of the estate.

THE EXECUTOR AND ADMINISTRATOR

As an executor or administrator, it is your responsibility, under the Circuit Court Probate Division’s supervision, to ensure that the debts and assets of the estate are managed and distributed in accordance with New Hampshire law and the decedent’s wishes if expressed in a will.

An executor is a person named by a decedent in a will to administer an estate (sometimes referred to as a testate estate). An administrator is a person eligible under New Hampshire law, and who is approved by the Circuit Court, to administer an estate when the decedent leaves no will (sometimes referred to as an intestate estate) or when the executor(s) named in the will cannot serve. Whether you are an executor or an administrator (sometimes also referred to as a fiduciary), you must exercise the highest duty of good faith and candor in carrying out the administration of the decedent’s estate.

Your responsibility as executor or administrator is to perform certain tasks to see that the estate is properly probated. The assets of the decedent’s estate must be collected and its debts paid, if sufficient funds exist in the estate. The assets must be managed while awaiting approval to distribute them and estate funds must be kept separate from any other funds by opening an account in the name of the estate and depositing all estate funds and paying all estate bills from that account. The valuation you provide for estate assets in the inventory is important because it establishes the tax basis for federal and state death taxes and for heirs or legatees who inherit the property. You must inform all persons with any legal interest in the estate, including creditors and potential heirs, of any matters that might affect their interests.
While you do not need to be an attorney to serve as an executor or administrator, you should always consult an attorney when issues arise which you are not comfortable handling. If consulted for a proper purpose, and with court approval, attorneys’ fees are payable out of the estate. The court’s Information Center can provide assistance in giving general advice and providing necessary forms, checklists and guidance regarding electronic filing of cases, but cannot give legal advice. You can reach the Information Center by calling 1-855-212-1234 during regular business hours, Monday through Friday, 8am to 4pm.

If, for whatever reason, you do not properly perform your duties as executor or administrator, the Circuit Court Probate Division will appoint a new executor or administrator to complete the administration of the estate. If you are unable or unwilling to serve, you may decline by filing a “Declination” form (NHJB-2123-Pe). The court will then appoint a substitute executor or administrator pursuant to the decedent’s instructions, or upon petition by other interested parties.

THE ESTATE

The decedent’s estate consists of any and all real and personal property, whether owned alone or in common with others. If, however, real or personal property is held as a “joint tenancy with right of survivorship,” it is not part of the probate estate since title passes at death directly to the surviving joint tenant. The same principle applies to other jointly held property, such as joint bank accounts. The proceeds of a life insurance policy also pass directly to the beneficiary, and are not part of the decedent’s probate estate. If any of the decedent’s property is held in a trust, then you should consult an attorney to determine whether, or to what extent, the trust is involved in the probate process. Even if there are no assets, but there is a will, you must file the will, any codicils (amendments), and a death certificate with the Probate Court within thirty (30) days of the date of death. If the will was made out of state, a “Statement of Counsel as to Propriety of a Foreign Will/Codicil to be Admitted into Probate” (NHJB-2146-Pe) must be filed with the Circuit Court.

The Estate Administration Checklist at the end of this booklet will help you to determine the assets and debts of the estate, as well as to gather necessary information for the probate process.

SPECIAL RIGHTS OF A SURVIVING SPOUSE

You should be aware of special rights of a surviving spouse in the estate administration process. In some instances, a surviving spouse may receive a greater share of the estate than the will would have provided. A surviving spouse may waive the will provisions and his/her homestead rights and instead take his/her share of the estate as set forth by law. The surviving spouse must make this choice within six months of the executor’s appointment. In an intestate estate, the surviving spouse’s share is set forth by statute and is generally anywhere from half of the estate to the entire estate after payment of debts and expenses.
The intestacy law (also called the law of descent and distribution, NH RSA 561) governs the distribution of property when the decedent dies without a will. Under state law, the order, or priority, of distribution of all property of a decedent after debts of the estate are paid, is as follows:

If there is a surviving spouse:

- the surviving spouse receives the entire estate if the decedent had no surviving parent or child;
- the surviving spouse receives the first $250,000 of the estate plus one-half the balance if there is a surviving child of both the decedent and the surviving spouse, and there are no other children of the surviving spouse who survive the decedent;
- the surviving spouse receives the first $250,000 plus three-fourths of the balance if there is a surviving parent of the decedent, but no surviving child;
- the surviving spouse receives the first $150,000, plus one-half of the balance of the estate if there is a surviving child of both the decedent and the surviving spouse and the surviving spouse has a surviving child who is not the child of the decedent;
- the surviving spouse receives $100,000 and one-half of the estate, if the decedent left children who are not also children of the surviving spouse.

If there is not a surviving spouse or if parts of the intestate estate still have not been distributed under the above formula, the remainder of the estate passes in the following order:

- to the children of the decedent, in equal shares;
- if the decedent has no surviving children, then to the parent(s) of the decedent;
- if the decedent has no surviving children or parent(s), then to the surviving brothers and sisters of the decedent in equal shares and to the children of the decedent’s deceased brothers and sisters by representation. (Representation means that these children share equally the portion their parent would have received had their parent survived the decedent.)
- if the decedent has no surviving children, parent(s), or brothers or sisters, or children of deceased brothers or sisters then, to grandparent(s);
- if there are no surviving children, parent, children of a parent, or grandparent, but there are children of decedent’s grandparent who survive, one-half of the estate passes to the children of the paternal grandparent who are not beyond the fourth degree of kinship to the decedent; the other half passes to the children of the maternal grandparent who are not beyond the fourth degree of kinship; provided, however, that if there are no children of the decedent’s grandparent within the fourth degree of kinship to the decedent on either the paternal or maternal side, the entire estate passes to the issue on the other side who are not beyond the fourth degree of kinship to the decedent.

No portion of a decedent’s intestate estate shall pass to any person who is of the fifth or greater degree of kinship to the decedent. If no one is available to take the estate under the provisions of the intestacy law, the intestate estate passes to the State of New Hampshire by a process called “escheat.”
Children born of unwed parents inherit through their mother, but can also inherit through their father if the father acknowledges paternity or is found to be the father through a court proceeding.

GETTING STARTED

You must file your probate case through the Electronic Filing System for the Circuit Court Probate Division. The Electronic Filing System is a computer program you can access with any computer connected to the internet. If you do not own a computer, you can go to any Circuit Court Probate, District or Family Division in the state (except for the Colebrook court) and use a public computer kiosk located in the lobby to file your case. There is no fee for use of the court computer. The Electronic Filing System will guide you through the filing of all case initiating documents by asking you a series of questions. After you have answered each question the system will produce a completed document and will explain how to finalize it and submit it electronically to the court for filing. There are filing fees for all the types of estate administration described below. These fees can either be paid, electronically, at the time of filing, by credit card or you may go to the court to pay the filing fee in person after you have filed the case initiating documents electronically. The lists of forms included under each section will help you get started. There will be additional forms required as the administration progresses. A link to court forms and other helpful resources is available at: https://www.courts.state.nh.us/probate/estate.htm.

To get started in the Electronic Filing System go to: https://www.courts.state.nh.us/nh-e-court-project/electronic-services.htm on the NH Judicial Branch website. For self-represented filers, after you sign-up with the Electronic Filing System, it guides you to the forms you will need to file. Many of the forms are generated automatically after you answer a series of questions.

TYPES OF ADMINISTRATION

Waiver of Full Administration

Waiver of Full Administration is a much simpler process than full estate administration. It is available if certain circumstances exist. The Electronic Filing System will ask you questions when you file the Petition for Estate Administration which will determine if the estate qualifies for Waiver of Full Administration. An estate will qualify under the following circumstances:

1. Whenever a decedent dies testate and the surviving spouse is named in the will as the sole beneficiary of the decedent's estate and is appointed to serve as administrator.
2. Whenever a decedent dies testate and, if there is no surviving spouse, an only child is named in the will as the sole beneficiary of the decedent's estate and is appointed to serve as administrator.
3. Whenever a decedent dies testate and, if there is no surviving spouse or child, a parent is the sole beneficiary of the decedent's estate and is appointed to serve as administrator.
4. Whenever a decedent dies testate and, if there is no surviving spouse or child, the decedent's parents are the sole beneficiaries of the decedent's estate and both parents are appointed to serve as co-administrators.
(5) Whenever a decedent dies testate and a trust created by the decedent is named as the sole beneficiary of the estate and the trustee is appointed to serve as administrator or any appropriate person is appointed to serve as administrator with the assent of the trustee.

(6) Whenever a decedent dies intestate and the surviving spouse is the sole heir and is appointed to serve as administrator.

(7) Whenever a decedent dies intestate and, if there is no surviving spouse, an only child is the sole heir of the decedent's estate and is appointed to serve as administrator.

(8) Whenever a decedent dies intestate and, if there is no surviving spouse or child, a parent is the only heir and is appointed to serve as administrator.

(9) Whenever a decedent dies intestate and, if there is no surviving spouse or child, the decedent's parents are the sole heirs and both parents are appointed to serve as co-administrators.

Under any of these circumstances, final administration of the estate takes place when the executor/administrator files a “Waiver of Administration Statement” (NHJB-2144-Pe) within six months to a year of their appointment certifying that no outstanding debt exists. An inventory of estate assets, a fiduciary bond and an accounting are not required under this form of administration. However, any interested person has the right to petition the Court for a full administration at any time from the original granting of administration to the filing of the Waiver of Administration Statement.

In a waiver of administration proceeding, you, as the executor/administrator, must prepare and file some, or all, of the following documents:

Regular Administration

Unless the conditions for a Waiver of Administration are present, regular estate administration is required. Under New Hampshire law, if you are named as executor in a will, you have thirty (30) days after the decedent’s death to file the will with the Circuit Court in addition to one of the forms listed below. The Court will review the will and forms you submit and will later inform you whether it is necessary to provide any witnesses to the signing of the will to “prove” its validity. You will be required to pay a filing fee by credit card with your electronic filing, or, you may pay the filing fee afterwards at the court. If the value of the estate is $10,000 or more, your filing fee will include a fee to cover the cost of publication of the “Notice of Appointment” in the local newspaper. The decedent’s will must be mailed to the Circuit Court Administrative Office or, it may be delivered to a Circuit Court Probate Division court. You will receive instructions for doing this in the Electronic Filing System. In addition to the will, you will need to file one or more of the forms listed below. The Electronic Filing System will guide you to the correct forms to file.

Will and codicils (if any) If the will was signed before 1986, you may need to “prove” the will—a process that is explained above.

NHJB-2146-Pe Statement of Counsel as to Propriety of a Foreign Will/Codicil to be Admitted into Probate. (This form is required only if the will was made out of state.)

Death Certificate You must obtain and mail to the court a certified copy of the death certificate. This is usually provided by the funeral director or you may contact the clerk of the city or town where the death occurred.

Corporate Surety Bond If the value of the estate is $25,000 or more, the court will require that you obtain a corporate surety bond, except in exceptional circumstances. The Court will set the amount of the bond after a review of the petition and review of the estate value. (See Glossary Corporate Surety Bond.)

Once you have properly filed the required forms and the court has reviewed and accepted them, you will be issued a Certificate of Appointment (Letter of Appointment) as executor or administrator. In addition, the court will send a “Notice of Appointment” to area newspapers if the value of the estate is $10,000 or more and publication is required. This acts as formal notice to the public, to potential heirs, and to creditors that an estate has been opened and that you have been appointed executor or administrator.
AFTER YOUR APPOINTMENT

THE INVENTORY

After you receive the certificate of appointment as executor or administrator from the court, you must determine and protect the estate’s assets. To show the court that this has been properly carried out you must prepare the “Inventory of Fiduciary” (NHJB-2125-Pe). (The inventory is not required in a waiver of administration.) The inventory form is available online and must be filed within ninety (90) days after your appointment date. The inventory should contain an itemization of real estate and personal properties, their values, and a description of real estate indicating the book and page number where the deeds are recorded at the County Registry of Deeds.

MANAGING THE ESTATE

The nature of the assets involved (whether cash, real estate, stocks, or other personal property) will often determine the complexity of the estate’s management. For all forms of administration, the estate must remain open for at least six months from the date of appointment to allow creditors to present claims. If all claims have been paid, the estate may be closed and a final account filed after six months. If the estate is not closed within one year of the date of appointment, an annual accounting is due at that time showing the income and disbursements and the overall status of the estate. The Circuit Court Probate Division must approve each accounting.

DEBTS

Your first duty as executor or administrator is to see that the debts of the decedent are paid. New Hampshire law requires that certain debts receive priority in payment. These debts include: administrative expenses of the estate, taxes, reasonable and necessary funeral, burial and cremation expenses, debts and taxes with preference under federal law, just debts including claims for medical assistance made by the State of NH Department of Health & Human Services, total amount paid for old age assistance, and legacies under the will. See RSA 554:19 for more detail and exact priority. If there is insufficient cash in the estate to pay all of its debts, it will be necessary for you to sell enough of the assets of the estate to pay the outstanding debts. Sometimes the will may direct which assets, and in what order, should be sold to pay the debts. If not, generally personal property is sold before real estate. If you have any doubt about how and in what order you should sell off estate assets to pay debts, you should consult an attorney or petition the Circuit Court for instruction. If the asset to be sold to pay debts is real estate, you must petition the Circuit Court for a license to sell the real estate. You do this by filing the “Motion and License to Sell Real Estate to Pay Demands” (NHJB-2136-Pe). Whether the asset to be sold is real estate or personal property, you must attempt to obtain the best price for the property. You should use the inventory value as a guide to the appropriate selling prices. Consult experts for any asset to be sold whose value is difficult to determine, such as stocks, bonds or real estate.
REAL ESTATE

If it is not necessary to sell real estate to pay demands on the estate, title to that real estate passes to those designated to receive it by will or by law. You must file a “Notice to Towns & Cities pursuant to RSA 554:18 – a” (NHJB-2142-Pe) with the court and with the town in which the real estate is located. If, however, the real estate is located outside New Hampshire, the New Hampshire Circuit Court has no jurisdiction. You should obtain legal advice concerning the probate laws of the state where the property is located. You may have to open a separate probate action in that state.

TAXES

You are responsible for obtaining a federal tax identification number for the estate and for filing all federal and state tax returns for the decedent and the estate. The tax identification number is obtained by filing the Internal Revenue Service Form SS–4, “Application for Employer Identification Number,” with the IRS. A state Legacy and Succession Tax return (for deaths occurring prior to January 1, 2003), a state estate tax return, and a federal estate tax return may be required. Any federal tax is payable to the Internal Revenue Service. Any New Hampshire taxes are payable to the state Department of Revenue Administration. All these tax returns, if required, must be filed within nine months of the date of death, unless an extension is obtained. Even if an extension is obtained, an estimated payment must be made during this period. Penalties are automatically applied for failure to timely file each of these tax returns. Consult an accountant, tax attorney or other tax specialist to determine which of these returns must be filed.

CLOSING THE ESTATE

If the estate has been processed using Waiver of Full Administration, it will be closed as described in those specific sections. If the estate has been processed using regular administration, it may be closed one of two ways: either with full oversight by the Circuit Court right through the distribution of any assets or through a process called summary administration.

If full oversight is needed, you should pay all the estate’s debts, and then prepare a final accounting using the form entitled “Executor’s/Administrator’s Accounting” (NHJB-2117-Pe). You must file it, along with a filing fee, with the Circuit Court Probate Division for its approval. Once the final account is accepted by the court, you should make the final distribution of assets. Fill out receipts (NHJB-2139-Pe) reflecting the distributions, have them signed by the recipients of the property and then file the receipts with the court. If a corporate surety bond is required for the estate, when the case closes, the Circuit Court will send you a certificate that you must forward to the bond company so that the bond may be released. At that point, the estate is closed. Your duties as executor or administrator have been fulfilled.
Summary administration is available as an alternative to the above, regular administration, process if you would like to expedite the closing of the estate when further court supervision of the administration of the estate is no longer necessary. You may file a “Motion for Summary Administration” (NHJB-2149-Pe) to close an estate not less than 6 months after your appointment. In order to be eligible for this process, there should be no outstanding debts or obligations against the estate, any NH or federal estate taxes should have been paid if any were due, and all legatees or beneficially interested parties must agree to the process, as indicated by the filing of an “Assent for Summary Administration” (NHJB-2122-Pe). If the court approves the “Motion for Summary Administration,” no final accounting will be required. The court will then close the estate and, if a bond was required, send you a certificate that you must forward to the bond company so that the bond may be released. You would then be obligated to complete the administration of the estate without further court supervision in accordance with the decedent’s will and applicable law.

COMPENSATION

Under New Hampshire law, executors, administrators and their attorneys are allowed reasonable fees; these fees are determined by the nature of the estate. You may not take a fee for your services under a voluntary administration. Fees of fiduciaries are always subject to the approval of the Circuit Court.

TIMELINE

For the most part, deadlines in the estate process proceed from the date the executor or administrator is appointed. The two exceptions, which proceed from the date of the death, are as follows:

Within 30 days of death:
File the decedent’s will with Circuit Court Probate Division in county where decedent last resided.

9 months after death:
Last day for a legatee or heir to file a disclaimer rejecting some or all of their inheritance.

Federal Estate Tax Return due, if required. No federal estate taxes are due if the gross estate assets are under $2 million. This amount increased to $3.5 million in 2009. For 2011 and 2012 the amount is $5 million. Thereafter the exemption is $1 million unless changed by Congress.

NH Estate tax and Legacy and Succession tax, if required, are due and payable to the NH Department of Revenue Administration. The Legacy and Succession tax was repealed January 1, 2003, but may apply to estates for decedents who died prior to January 1, 2003. Such tax is not owed on property passing to lineal ascendants and descendants of the decedent, or to charity. A tax of 18% is imposed on the value of all other property (except life insurance) as in, for example, property left to a brother or a niece.
At beginning of administration:
File appropriate forms for type of administration being used. Administrator or executor of estate is then appointed by the Circuit Court Probate Division.

Within 15 days of appointment:
Clerk of Court will provide for publication of notice of appointment.

Within 90 days of appointment:
File Inventory of Fiduciary (NHJB-2125-Pe).

Six months after appointment:
Deadline for creditors to file claims against the estate. Earliest date to close the estate if all the claims are paid.
Deadline for surviving spouse to waive will provisions and then homestead rights.

Earliest date to file Motion for Summary Administration (NHJB-2149-Pe) if this option is to be used.

Six to 12 months after appointment:
File "Waiver of Administration Statement" (NHJB-2144-Pe) if this is a waiver of administration proceeding.

12 months after appointment:
File Executor's/Administrator's Accounting (NHJB-2117-Pe) and do so every 12 months thereafter as long as the estate is open.
